Visit to Jordan

WELCOME to the inaugural issue of the University News Letter. We are most delighted to launch this new initiative that could serve as the platform to spread the news and views of the University and we hope that you would enjoy receiving updates from us.

As all of you are aware of, there are large number of universities producing range of graduates and post graduates every year. But the Dev Sanskriti Vishwavidyalaya is established with a novice objective. There is a great mission and vision behind the establishment of this university which can be understood in the following words of Yugrishi Sri Ram Sharma Acharya, who is the saint, seer, philosopher, visionary, pioneer of scientific spirituality and the founder patron of All World Gayatri Parivar, who fifty five years ago dreamed of such a university which could fulfill the need of creating enlightened human beings.

He believed that there must be a university in the country which could mould its students into a noble and enlightened human beings: selfless, Warm hearted, compassionate and kind.

This is what the university is committed to; to make this pious dream come true in the wider interest of the humanity. We firmly believe in creating the crops of enlightened human beings, and ideal citizens in form of enlightened graduates and post graduates and offering them to society for the betterment of the nation. During a very short span of 13 years since its conception, this university has set many milestones in the field of social service and academic excellence and has acquired its place among the best academic institutions of the country. Keeping pace with the changing times we have to constantly cater to the needs of the society and the nation and hence, the university intends to launch new courses like BJMC, B.Sc in Animation, Diploma in Rural Management from the new academic session; i.e. 2015-16. Social service programs like teaching poor and downtrodden students, tree plantation, de-addiction campaigns, clean India campaign, yoga therapy camps and other activities of the students during their internship programs have added to the glory to the university. Our students through their all round excellent performances in different fields in India and abroad are of course acting as the brand ambassadors of the university.

The new MOUs of the university with several renowned academic institutes of India and abroad and the visits of distinguished personalities and several educationists, scientists, researchers bears testimony to the ever growing stature of the university. And of course, with all these glorious moments, academic excellence the university is marching ahead and ahead under the inspiring, ideal and scholarly leadership of H.H. Dr. Pranav Pandya, Head of All world Gayatri Parivar and Chancellor of this university.

We wish best of luck to all the students appearing at their semester and final year exams in May and June. Simultaneously we wish a bright future to the passing out students.

Message from the Patron

Dr. Pranav Pandya

Hon'ble Chancellor, Dev Sanskriti Vishwavidyalaya

It fills my heart with immense pleasure to know that Dev Sanskriti Vishwavidyalaya has launched its e-news letter. It goes without saying that communication is the basic need of human being. Even plants, birds and beasts can't live without communication. Even Nature communicates itself in its own ways. Whether they be ever flowing rivers, or ever blowing cool breeze, the rising Sun or the moon-lit night they all are communicating in their own ways. As for human communication, it begins with the very first cry of the new born baby. But what to communicate? This is more important. A tree bearing new leaves and fully bloomed flowers in the Spring season gives us the message of change, the message of reformation and transformation. This is what Renaissance, the e-news letter of this university intends to do. Just as a rose spreads its fragrance all around through the wind, this university likewise would propagate its message of reformation and transformation across the globe through this letter. A university is a universe therefore it must transcend the geographical boundaries through its universal message. It must communicate with the universe, that is communication with the whole cosmos. But such a universal communication is possible not simply through words and technology but through the commitment to the noble cause. This is what this university is really committed to. Dev Sanskriti is ever setting new milestones and reforming the face of modern education for the global transformation as the Nalanda and Taxila universities had done in the ancient times. Aimed at the dissemination of the tenets of Dev Sanskriti, this is an illustrious institution and the manifestation of the divine dream of our reverend Gurudev yugrishi Pt. Sri Ram Sharma Acharya the saint, seer, philosopher, visionary and the pioneer of scientific spirituality who dreamed of a university which could create the true and enlightened human beings.

This is equally true that such enlightened human beings can't be created simply through education. Education, no doubt can create graduates and post graduates. But creation of divine human beings like Buddha, Mahavir and Gandhi and Subash is possible only through the communion of siksha (education) with sanskar (vidya). This is what this university is committed to do. If siksha is information, vidya is transformation and therefore paves the way for the transformation of thought and transformation of the inner being of the individual. Shiksha is Education and Vidya is wisdom to utilize that knowledge. Only such enlightened and transformed persons can do something noble for the individual, society, nation and the world. Instead of creating problems they would be able to provide solutions to the problems the humanity is facing across the globe.

The pious campus of this university is an example as how a teacher and student can build their relationship in 21st century. The curriculum, the subjects all are designed to learn and cultivate the skill with the plantation of divinity in their soul. Each course is designed to fulfill their professional requirements too. My regular interaction with the students in the form of Dhyana and Geeta classes helps me to fulfill my duties as a guardian to the residents of the University campus. The holistic development of students is our motto which is being successfully carried out with the team spirit of the university.

Renaissance means change and we believe that in this transition phase, this newsletter besides updates would give a platform for a young generation to think of their holistic development and commitment to serve the society and nation. My heartiest congratulations and well wishes for the team to develop this e-newsletter successfully.

Geeta Classes

Geeta classes were focused on the human behavior and traits jealousy and hatred which kills the divinity in the person. He suggested two methods to get rid of them that is practice and detachment. Practice of the constantly remembering positive thoughts and detachment from the negativity and from expectations. Possession of too many things gives us miseries and it is due to ignorance of self-refinement.

Self-refinement shall be attained by small practices like helping others, serving others in need, and attaining the height of purity by avoiding negative thoughts
